

1st Application Approved For Soil Conservation Work

County soil conservation supervisors have approved their application for soil conservation assistance to Marion county according to a report today from Arthur H. Smith, county agent.

Approval approved by the supervisors came from seven Tully farmers and includes 1,000 acres of land. Mr. Smith said. The application was approved since the Marion county soil conservation district was organized in December.

Participating in the program, Mr. Smith said, would be securing a soil conservation service to assist in setting up their conservation program. A federal representative should be set up in Marion county permanently in June, Mr. Smith said. The technician will be a federal free technical service agent dealing with any problem of soil conservation, conservation, timber conservation or any problem of soil conservation.

Members of the Marion county soil conservation supervisors include C. B. Smith, H. H. Berringer, J. H. Clyde Hinman and J. H. Smith.

Mr. Smith said, "The farm or farms owned and do the technical work. He would provide practices and plans and estimates of costs and maintenance to do the job. This step is done jointly by the landowner and the technician. The technician is underwritten by him and the landowner. The technicians do not fully understand and voluntary agree to do the work."

STATE DRAFTS DIM OUT PLAN

Will Order Conservation of Power When Supplies Hit 30-Day Level.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., May 11.—The state utilities commission announced yesterday it would order a "brown out" or any other conservation measure deemed necessary whenever a utility company reached the critical stage of a 30-day coal supply.

Commission Chairman Harold L. Mason ordered companies throughout the state to notify the commission when they reached this point so that official action could be taken immediately.

He said the commission might order curtailment of less essential services, like air conditioning and display lighting, or more drastic measures depending on the apparent progress in coal strike negotiations or other factors affecting fuel supplies. Mason said his survey showed that Ohio Public Service Co. and Toledo Edison each had a 40-day supply, Ohio Power and Cincinnati Gas and Electric, each 50, Cleveland Electric Illumination 55, Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric 65, and Ohio Edison 95.

After learning of the two-week truce in the coal strike, the governor commented: "It is pleasing to learn of the truce in the coal strike. It would be much better, however, if instead of a truce there were complete liberation of the people from the tragic menace of a coal shortage."

Lausche said he would go ahead with his plans for a meeting next Monday with public utility and other coal consumers to map a campaign to meet any future emergency.

Mackenzie Sees Old World Split Into Two Blocs

By DEWITT MACKENZIE AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Whether Winston Churchill's idea of a "United States of Europe," both of the east and of the west, materializes as a good will measure of peaceful collaboration, the indications are that the Old World will in any event be divided into two blocs—friendly or otherwise.

As I pointed out in yesterday's column, one bloc already has been formed in main, and that is the new Russian zone of influence which blankets most of the countries of eastern Europe and the Balkans. The logical corollary to that will be a western bloc of nations which will combine because of their special community of interests.

Dewitt Mackenzie including a democratic form of government that is at variance with the Soviet totalitarianism.

Appropos of this thought, Mr. Churchill said in his speech at the Hague:

"We hope that the western democracies of Europe will draw together in ever closer amity and ever closer association. This is a matter which should be very carefully considered and, if found wise, should be pressed from many angles with the utmost perseverance."

Doesn't Mean Clash

Naturally the fact that there were two groups of nations wouldn't ipso facto mean that they must be at logger-heads. Mr. Churchill's "United States of Europe," both of the east and of the west, under the guidance of a world organization, would be calculated to unify this continent in a manner never known since the fall of the Roman Empire.

That would be the ideal. The cold reality is that nobody can say now what the relations among the Old World nations will be in the Europe of tomorrow. We cannot determine that until the realignment of the zones of influence has been finished—or at least until it is clear how great a chance is contemplated.

The great unknown quantity at the moment is Russia's program. Moscow long ago made it quite clear that the Soviet Union was determined on extending its sphere of influence to the line from Stettin in northern Germany southward along the eastern borders of Poland, Czechoslovakia and Austria to the Adriatic. The Russians also have emphasized their intention of having access to the Mediterranean. Broadly speaking, after we have noted these facts we get a dim-out.

How Far Is Issue

The question agitating United Nations diplomats is how far Russia intends to try to expand. Lack of information on that vital point is one of the chief causes of the trouble which has been bedeviling the security council of the United Nations and the unhappy conference of Big Four foreign ministers in Paris.

That surely is a gloomy background for a United States of Europe which will unify the continent. Already it has produced sharp divergence of views between Russian and the Anglo-American fraternity. Whether that divergence will expand into the formation of a defensive bloc of western European nations will depend on developments in the immediate future. Unless Russia shows its hand and relieves the suspicions and fears of the other Allies, a western bloc is most likely. And the existence of two blocs formed under such circumstance scarcely could inspire amity.

YOUR HEALTH

By HERMAN RUNDENSKEN, M.D. Vitamin K

A LARGE part of the job of any medical man is to protect and prevent. Thus, a surgeon who performs an operation is exceedingly careful to close the wound as a protection against both infection and bleeding.

This is an iron-clad rule of surgical procedure, and yet it, too, has its exception. When tonsils and adenoids are removed, two or three broad, open wounds are left without protection. There is no choice in the matter, the very nature of the structures simply makes closing impossible. This alone would make a tonsillectomy unique, for it never happens in any operation elsewhere in the body.

Furthermore, after an operation on the tonsils, the patient is unable to eat very much for two or three days because of the pain. In order to overcome this pain, it is common practice to give pain-relieving drugs such as aspirin. According to Doctor Harry Neivert, of New York, this practice of giving large doses of aspirin after tonsil operation may be a factor in causing bleeding or hemorrhage from the wound, particularly late hemorrhages occurring a week or ten days after the operation.

In a series of patients operated on who were not given any aspirin, bleeding did not occur. Other surgeons have found that giving injections of vitamin K also may be helpful in preventing bleeding. Vitamin K is needed for proper clotting of the blood. It has been shown that salicylates, even just one dose, may slow down the clotting time of blood in animals who are receiving enough vitamin K.

The animals could be protected against this action of the aspirin by giving them a preparation of vitamin K. Thus, Dr. Neivert believes that aspirin interferes with the clotting of the blood, and its effect on vitamin K may be an important factor in producing bleeding following tonsil operations.

If aspirin is to be employed the patients also should get a vitamin K compound either by mouth or in injection into a muscle. In this way the effect of the aspirin on the clotting of the blood may be overcome and normal blood clotting can then take place. It may be possible to substitute other pain-relieving preparations for the aspirin in some instances.

It might also be advisable to test the clotting time of the blood before operation and if it is too slow, to give vitamin K in the proper dose.

Government Home Owning Aid for GI's Explained on This Page Today

Government Help for Home-Building Veterans.

The veteran who wishes to borrow money to finance the purchase of a home today is in an extremely fortunate position. In addition to the assistance available to him through generous FHA mortgage insurance terms, he is eligible for veterans administration help under the revised loan provisions of the GI Bill of Rights.

The procedure in making a GI loan is simple. The veteran goes to his local bank or savings and loan company and gives them the necessary information about the proposed property and his own financial resources. If the financial institution is satisfied that he is eligible for a GI loan guaranty, it will order a credit report on the veteran and have an appraisal made of the home to be purchased or constructed. The appraisal report is made by an independent appraiser approved by the regional veterans loan administrator.

Goes to Administrator. If the credit report and the appraisal appear to be satisfactory, the lender will then submit to the regional administrator the veteran's application, enclosing both these forms. The final decision is made by the administrator, who must be satisfied that the terms of payment are within the veteran's financial means, and that the purchase price does not exceed the reasonable value of the property as determined by the appraisal. Applications are usually returned in less than a week's time.

In addition to loans for purchase or construction of homes, the government will guarantee loans for repairs, alterations, or improvements to residential property owned by a veteran. Guaranty may be obtained on loans for paying off delinquent indebtedness, taxes, or special assessments on a home.

Contrary to a wide popular impression, the government does not lend the money, but simply acts in the capacity of insurer of the veteran's note.

Two alternative lending plans are available to the veteran. Under the first plan the lender may advance to the borrower in one mortgage (at 4 per cent interest) the entire purchase price of his home. In such cases the veterans administration guarantees 50 per cent of the loan or $4,000, whichever is less. For example, on a $10,000 house, the lending agency would advance $10,000 to pay for the home, but the amount of the agency's risk would only be the $5,000 above the government-guaranteed $4,000. It will be seen in this example that the government guaranty is a substitute for a 40 per cent cash down payment, and in most cases the veteran's only cash outlay will be for title costs and other incidental charges.

Under the alternative lending plan the borrower may elect to use a first mortgage insured by the FHA and a second mortgage guaranteed by the government under the GI law. The interest rate on the first mortgage would be 4 1/2 per cent and the FHA insurance premium would be 1 1/2 per cent, making a total of 6 per cent. The guaranteed second mortgage, which takes the place of a down payment, must not exceed 20 per cent of the purchase price of the property or $4,000. The lender's money in this second mortgage is completely government guaranteed and bears an interest of 4 per cent.

BASEMENT ROOMS FOR RENT

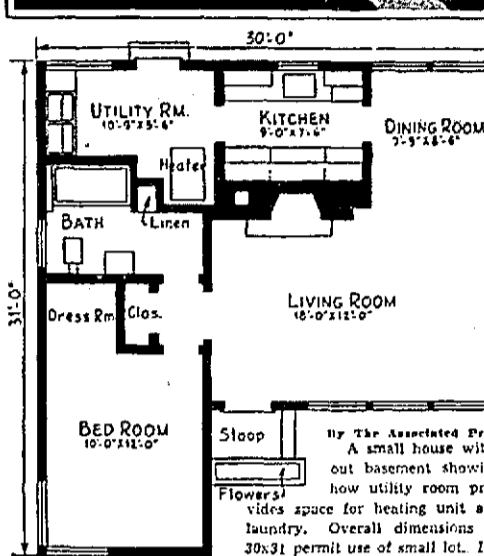

Q. We have built two rooms in our basement to rent out. What can be done to cement floors, without making a wooden floor? I intend to have linoleum in kitchen and bathroom and rug in living room. What else could be done to keep floors warm and dry? It will be hot water heated. The basement doesn't seem damp, although people say it will be damp.

A. I do not consider a basement suitable for living quarters. No matter what you may do to keep the place dry, there is always the possibility of dampness developing. Moreover, there will be little if any sunshine or fresh air. A basement may be all right for a rumpled room for grown-ups, to be used occasionally, but not for living and sleeping rooms. Asphalt tile, laid by a flooring contractor, would be more suitable than linoleum.

It will be seen that under the lending plan first discussed the veteran would benefit by paying only 4 per cent interest on the entire purchase price of the home. In either case the loan must be repaid within 25 years, and the government pays the first year's interest on the guaranteed part of the GI loan. It appears likely that veterans will soon be eligible for new FHA insured loans at a total interest rate of only 3 1/2 per cent which run for 35 years. The government is sparing no effort to see that every ex-serviceman who holds a steady job can afford to buy his own home.

Bureau Advises Check on Plumbing, Heating

Before buying a house, it is well to check on the condition of the plumbing and heating equipment, the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau advises.

It is not prudent, the Bureau points out, to invest one's life's savings in a house unless there is some assurance that the plumbing and heating equipment is functioning properly or definite information on how much it will cost to place the equipment in good operating condition.

Because the average homeowner does not have the expert knowledge necessary to determine the condition of the plumbing and heating, it is advisable to engage the services of a plumbing and heating contractor to make an inspection.

Berry stains are one of the few stains you can treat at home. As soon as possible rinse out with plain water.

Description of Harpsichord

Predecessor of the piano, the harpsichord is the instrumental medium for which the original music of the composers Bach, Scarlatti, and Couperin, was written. It is considered the accompaniment best suited for string ensemble work, with its "crisp and brilliant mandolin-like tone." A simplified explanation of the harpsichord's construction is the "placing of a harp in a box." The instrument is played by means of a keyboard, by plucking the strings with quills moved by the keys. It is played with an organ-like technique. Mrs. Thomas' instrument, hand made of American walnut with moldings in gold leaf, has the 31-inch long traditional keyboard of ebony naturals and boxwood sharps, and it has added durability through the use of modern materials including plastic, and has nylon bristles and the frame of aluminum makes for less warping and helps keep tune, it is explained. There are scarcely more than a half dozen known harpsichordists today, but the instrument is used on rare occasions with an interesting effect in swing ensembles, on radio and records.

One girl used old newspapers dating to President Harding's inauguration. Some were typed and many were written in longhand. All were bound in attractive scarlet and gray covers made by the pupils. Material included sections covering Ohio history, state capitols, state government, education, rivers, staples of Ohio's cities. Presidents from Ohio, Ohio poems and other related material. A Great Week Set To Music

THIS WAS a great week for Marion with the school improvement victory at the polls acclaimed as the launching of a new era of progress for the community, and the notable event was appropriately provided with an outstanding musical accompaniment.

It was just a coincidence that the city's observance of National Music Week came simultaneously with the people's decision to start the community on the high road to a better future, but lining of the two was none the less happy and noteworthy.

It was fitting that this occasion of glorious civic achievement for Marion be marked by what was doubtless the most comprehensive and successful Music Week program ever arranged and presented here. There can be no exaggeration in saying that no other community in Ohio or possibly the entire country surpassed us in this week's observance. And that circumstance too is as it should be for in no other city could music be a more prominent activity and influence.

Marion's thousands of musicians and music lovers have two reasons for rejoicing over the people's vote authorizing the school building program. The first is, of course, the fact that it means much-needed improvement and expansion of facilities for education and training of our boys and girls. The second is realization that the city is to have greatly augmented opportunities for development of music talent and presentation of music programs for people of the community. Chief among the facilities making this possible will be the modern and commodious auditorium which is to be a part of the new high school building. With such accommodations assured Marion can look forward to musical programs surpassing anything in the past including performances by the country's most brilliant stars as well as by great choruses and orchestras which could not be brought here now or in previous years because of inadequate stage and audience space.

This means that music is going to have a large share in the brighter and better future that Marion is to enjoy as a result of a civic victory at the polls which was so happily coordinated with National Music Week.

Lewis Sets the Pace

JOHN L. LEWIS, being a man of acute intelligence, must get a chuckle out of the way he is being held personally to blame for crippling the nation by keeping miners idle. He was not always such a deep-dyed villain.

Mr. Lewis merely has taken advantage of a government atmosphere of encouragement which has given many labor leaders, as individuals, an illusion of unlimited personal power. He is one of the chickens that come home to roost at the end of an era of labor leader coddling.

His only wrong-doing has been to take literally the admonition of his political sponsors to make the most of his opportunities. If there had been no John L. Lewis to make himself czar of the coal industry, someone else would have exploited this chance of a lifetime. More than any other industry, it is the key to production. Mr. Lewis by controlling the largest single source of energy in an industrialized nation, has maneuvered himself into a position where he sets the pace for national welfare.

He and his advisers and lieutenants currently have decided to slow down the United States to a stop. It is an open secret that this is to be a demonstration with two purposes one, to win more concessions for coal miners than other labor leaders have won for their followers two, to prove to the followers of some of the other leaders that the time is ripe for them to follow.
John L. Lewis, instead. All this power all this competition for prestige, all this base humiliation of government and disregard of public welfare were implicit in the almost unlimited power voted to labor leaders by many of the same politicians now screaming with fury because it turned out that way.

John L. Lewis and United Mine Workers must take their share of responsibility for what is happening. But when their share has been taken there will be a good 80 per cent of responsibility left for the politicians who couldn't wait to give a handful of labor bosses and their reunions power to make or break the country, according to their whims. It may be that the worst thing which could have happened to the American labor movement was an administration so anxious to win labor votes it gave labor leaders power beyond their capacity for using it wisely.

NO TIME FOR AGING HERE
England is such a slow, backward country, we are surprised she has done as well as she has in world affairs. For example, a gallon of 376-year old whisky was sold there recently. Here we get it from the cornfield to saloon in 30 days.
Simply a matter of efficiency, old chap—Kansas

Big 3 Faces Reviving Europe

By WALTER LIPPMANN

Nations Will Play New Role in Deciding Issues.

THE most difficult question to answer, and yet the most important, is whether the dividing line through central Europe is the frontier at which the Russians and the Anglo-Americans are destined to clash.

The belief that they will clash,
or that they may, is the determining element in the calculations of all the governments and of every political party and it is the underlying reason why practically every issue turns out to be insoluble.
I saw something of this dividing line from Berlin through Vienna to Trieste speaking with great reserve because the whole situation is immensely intricate. It seems to me that the importance of the line depends upon whether you are looking backward or are looking forward.

I think the Allied governments are looking backward and acting on the false assumption that Europe is at it and will continue to be, what it was in the winter and spring of 1915 when all power was in the hands of the Big Three.
They have not yet taken proper account of the fact that all of the European nations—all of them—are reviving and will be playing an increasingly active part in matters that were once the apparent monopoly of the Big Three.

It is easy to forget, but important to remember that this line happens to be where it is because that is where Stalin Churchill and Roosevelt agreed that their armies could meet and would come to a halt. A different military timetable—for example, an earlier Anglo-American invasion of the continent—or a different strategical plan—for example, an Anglo-American thrust up through the Balkans—would have produced a quite different line. The line is therefore the boundary between three non-European armies which fought their way into Europe from outside of Europe.

Importance Diminishes

Unless they are now going to fight one another, the importance of the line must be diminishing.
The political authority of the victorious armies was obviously at its maximum when they were at the height of their military power and when the liberated and the defeated peoples were in the depths of their weakness.

But nothing stands still, and if

No Substitute
For Motherhood

Tomorrow Is Mother's Day

Columbus has his day, so does labor. Likewise Saints Valentine and Patrick.

Thus it is only proper that we should dedicate one day each May to the dearest of the dear. Besides it helps break the annual lull in the florist business between Easter and the wedding season.

Not of course that modern mothers need any special attention. The hand that rocks the cradle is the hand that rules the roost.

The days when the Fuller Brush man asked for the head of the house and Pat came to the door are gone forever.

But this year more than ever we realize how much we owe to depend on Mom now that she's no longer on the swingshift at the shipyard.

Mothers are absolutely essential to the continued well being of any nation. One thing wrong with us today is we've got too many wondering with career ideas and not enough with child.

Last-Hour Lawmaking

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—The 79th Congress is nearing the end of the line—and it probably will reach there with more work undone than any other congress in a generation or so.

The tentative date for single adjournment is around July 1.
Don't think for a minute that it will be much after this Twenty-five states for certain, 29 probably will have their primary elections or non-binding conventions after July 1. That means that in over half the states 430 congressmen, 33 senators and incidentally 34 governors will have to do their main campaigning back home in the four months preceding Nov. 5.

That leaves a matter of weeks for the congress to act on what the administration has designated as vital legislation. Something will be done about extension of OPA whether it is satisfactory or not to the White House. Something will have to be done about extension of the war. The appropriation bills will get enacted —a little hurriedly perhaps—without too much argument. Observers on the Hill feel pretty confident that something will be done about the British loan. Something in the way of emergency housing may be forced over.

When congress gets down to its last minute work things do get done. But they don't always get done by an antagonistic congress the way the administration would like to have them done. And the only whole real program before the 79th congress is that laid down by President Truman.

The Republicans and the insurgent Democrats have come around on a few issues but not many. The Army Navy Merger bill reported out by the senate military affairs committee may die in the naval affairs committee.
The fair employment practices act is already dead. The vitally imwe overcome the tendency to think that things are what they were, we must reckon with the new fact that the dominion of all the Big Three though in different degrees, is becoming less and less absolute as the European nations arise from the dust and ashes of the war.

I believe that, even in the Russian sphere of influence there are objective indications, which no iron curtain can conceal, that the Soviet authority is not what it was or what it is cracked up to be.
The most telling indication does not depend on what any one thinks he saw or believes he knows.

It is that the rulers of the Soviet empire have not been able to formulate a common European policy for the various Communist parties which look to "Moscow for direction and support."

The German Communists are openly opposed to the French Communists over the Ruhr and the Rhine-land and they are opposed—not quite openly but very nearly so—to the Polish Communists over the annexed territories. The Polish and the Czech Communists are deeply at odds over Teschen, the Austrians and the Italians over the South Tyrol, the Italians and Yugoslavs over Trieste and Venezia Giulia.

The Communist parties are divided on the nationalist issues which divide Europe. They are united and follow a common policy laid down in Moscow where the issue is not primarily European but one of world power between the Soviet Union and Great Britain or the United States.

My own inquiries satisfied me that in Europe the Russian im-perialists are having the usual troubles of empire. In ruling over diverse peoples they are confronted with horrid choices when their subjects quarrel. If they decide for the German Communists Moscow, France, and Russia in France may have the heads obediently. But the French Communist party will be sunk. If Moscow opts for the French, it will sink the German Communists, who must live by persuading the Germans that they can restore the unity and greatness of Germany.

Same Dilemma

The same dilemma confronts Stalin and Molotov wherever they have to settle a European dispute. They would like to support all the Communist parties and not to have to choose between them.

This is empire trouble in essence the same as that which confronts Mr. Attlee when he has to choose between the Hindus and Moslems in India, the Arabs and Zionists in Palestine. I suggest that an important, though not the only reason why the Soviets are stalling in all these disputed issues is the same as Mr. Attlee's reason for stalling in his imperial difficulties. To decide one way or the other is to invite trouble. For the rulers of the empire it is a case of tails they lose and heads they cannot win.

This does a long way to prove I think that the duel of the great powers on the military dividing line is likely to be interrupted by the action of the European nations themselves.

That will certainly happen if the so-called great powers are checked. And it will probably happen anyway even if they bring the conflict to a showdown of force. For it seems to me in the highest degree probable that the people of Europe could not be mobilized and aligned for such a war.

If the third world war broke out, the content would be plunged into the anarchy of a significant civil war amidst which the great non-European power, would never know who was friend and who was foe.

Forest air is much more free from bacteria of all kinds than is the air just outside the forest.
According to the Encyclopedia Britannica there are generally 23 to 28 per cent fewer bacteria in the forest air since the foliage acts as a kind of filter retaining dust and other particles in the air. The bacteria on the leaves are then readily killed by exposure to the sun.

Blessings on thee (in reverse),
Little girl who can't look worse!
Bobby-socker, honey cane,
With your catch-as-catch-can style,
Rumpled rags who always looks Very anti "Use-No-Hooks".
Happiest when dressing calls
Just for shirt and overalls,
Careless as the carefree boy,
You too, lead a life of joy.
If life is so good, declare,
Just a case of what you wear.

Blessings on thee in thy bliss
All-dressed up so flir-must,
Picking costumes more and more
At some Army-Navy store....
Holding to the styles as seen
In some picture magazine Bringing floods of queries in
"Vaseline or feminine?"

How I wonder at you, kid!
As the graces seem to skid!
Gone the dainty lacy touch,
Gone the sweet rags, oh, so much!
Gone that made you extra chic
Now the ragged touch you seek Things all gossamer and lace
You consider out of place.
Dressing you now say, my sweet,
"What's use of being neat?"

Bare legs cut and black and blue,
Plasters on your ankles, too.
Did you while it seems absurd,
Try a hook-slide into third?

Cheerily my modern babe,
Dress like Abner, Zeke and Gabe!
Just a few swift motions and You're dolled up to beat the band,
Lit le touches here and there
Are enough and take much care,
Queen of the art and feel all right
Even if you look a sight.

Do you know what I would do
Were I your mom, fond and true,
With much emphasis and zing?

Dear Nephew, Everybody around these parts is raving about inflation. Excitement is a pitch. In other words, money, things are getting better.

Do not quote me. I am not an economist. I make a punk guess it's that crazy uncle of yours who does not know what he is talking about. Only so called economists can boners and apologetics.

But nephew, and me. I really do have things will not continue to go from bad to worse much longer. When people begin to talk about being gipped, the racket is about washed up.
You don't remember as well as I do the buyers' strikes after the other war. Buyers' strikes people like us. The strikes we call arm, decided on in New York or Washington. We settle ourselves. There's nothing harder settling than a buyers' strike once it gets started.

In operation it is a thing of beauty in its simplicity. All of a sudden millions of people have been throwing away their money decided on in New York or Washington. We
settle ourselves. There's nothing harder
settling than a buyers' strike once it gets started.

But the real strikers still have a choice. They can over-price, or to give the people who have jacked up the price on it the buyers' strike. Two or three times in the last few days I heard of people going into stores and looking at the proprietors' faces when some red price was mentioned. It is not serious yet because there are too many suckers left who buy at any price, honest or black market.

When customers start to grumble the thing is lost. It is one thing to pay $100 for a $5,000 house and not realize you've been gipped. But another thing when everybody is about getting gipped. That's when people begin to look at the family silver.

The fact is, I don't think the United States has a genuine case of inflation anywhere. We are having looks like a stunt to round up sheep for the shearing. When everybody set, someone will spring the trap and they'll be fleeced.

I can't afford to be fleeced. It's the only I have. I can't see. There's no more where I came from. So I am sitting out inflation
you. When it's over I can sit on my hands to the "ones of all the dear, dumb people"

be very sad people—but wiser.

Fortunately, it is unnecessary for me to help get it away from them any farther.
is legitimate, so I can afford to be responsible. Someone was bound to take advantage of because they were wide open. It is a crowd who get the fleecing, but it's always same crowd that loses it—the saps who they want the piece of candy so bad they a dollar for it. There's a lot of candy being right now, and a lot of dollars changing hands, but it can't last much longer. The people smartening up. Some day a lot of them will decline to buy any more, and that will be the beginning of the end of what we are doing inflation.

We then will have a depression. Instead least the politicians will call it that. Your is well. I am well, and we hope you and are well. Why not come to see us real soon?

Christian Mothers

"A virtuous woman is a crown to her husband."—Proverbs 12:4.

When Mother's day approaches each year, we have the joy of recalling the many happy days when Mother has been different only in their attitude the folly of allowing children to dominate them, rather than teaching the children to sub- mit gladly and willingly to parental authority.

to our mind the likeness of our own mother, that person of persons who first gave us life. Some of us have mothers who are still numbered among the living; others have mothers of memory only, mothers who have been, but are now no longer a part of this world. Memory takes some of us to God's Age, to a small secluded spot, where rest the final remains of a Christian mother.

Why celebrate Mother's day? Because we have every reason to thank God for mothers who have been commanded by God, and He places this responsibility upon the parents. Children that have been taught that God is their Creator and God's Son their Redeemer are wise in God's sight. Mothers need more mothers who

We thank God for Christian mothers:

Christian mothers realize the responsibility of making and keeping together the home. This tremendous task, Christian mothers know, rests largely on them.

The spirit that permeates the home, the influence that emanates from the home, the lives that come forth from the home—all these bear the imprint of the queen of the household, the mother. What greater work could

God assign to a woman, then that of making a home Christ-like. The greatest career that the Almighty planned for womanhood is motherhood, and God wants that motherhood to be imbued with the Savior-Christ.

Christian mothers know that the marriage vow must be kept if homes are to remain intact. Marriage vows, God-fearing mothers realize, are made before God. Therefore, such promises of fidelity are meant by God to be permanent. The new divorce

DR. IRWIN A. MOON

Vivid full-color scenes from astronomy and natural science are featured in "The God of Creation," sound motion picture to be shown at 7:30 o'clock Friday night (May 17) in a union service to be held in the Calvary Evangelical Church, 12 Church and High Streets.

Produced in the West Coast laboratory of Moody Bible Institute by Irwin A. Moon, Sc. D., "The God of Creation" is the second in a series of evangelistic films. The first by Dr. Moon, "The Live For Ever," had a large showing in all parts of the country.

In the opening section of "The God of Creation" the audience takes a trip to the stars by means of solar photographs taken through the giant 100-inch telescope of Mt. Wilson Observatory in California, and views complex arrangements of our own solar system.

Lapse-time photography is utilized to demonstrate the beauties of natural science. The illusion of flower buds developing into full-blown blossoms in a few seconds is created through this time-compressing photo technique. The metamorphosis of a caterpillar through the various stages from worm to butterfly and pollination of flowers are seen on the screen in full color.

Believed to be the first of their kind are the natural-color pictures of photosynthesis, the mysterious food-making process resulting from the action of sunlight on a green leaf.

Through a microscope the audience is taken into the microscopic world of a drop of water and sees on the screen the complex and intricate organization enlarged more than a million times.

ENGINEER COMPLETES FLOOD AREA ROADS

Action Taken at Request of Army Corps.

Marion County Engineer Walter W. Johnson is completing a list of Marion county roads which are in the watershed of the Delaware dam project.

Mr. Johnson said today he was making the list at the request of Lt. Col. George N. Krieger, corps of engineers, Cincinnati. Besides listing the roads in the watershed area Mr. Johnson said he had been asked to describe the type of construction of each road.

The county engineer said Col. Krieger's letter had given him no definite information on what Marion county territory would be considered in the watershed area, but said he was listing those roads north of the Delaware county line which he thought might be involved.

Work on the $3,000,000 dam project, located four miles north of Delaware, began several weeks ago and grading the reservoir basin has progressed at a rapid rate. The government has possession of 21 tracts of land re-

Washed-Out Cardinals Face Soggy Weekend

Newark Game Tonight Off; Twin Bill Sunday—Maybe

By JIM DABBY

Rain ruled the baseball roost last night as Marion's scheduled bout with Newark at Lincoln Park was postponed for the same reason. Weather today also seems to have the upper hand. Judge W. Dexter Hazen, president of the Cardinals, said tonight's game with Newark is postponed until a later date.

The official forecast reads, "Rain today and possibly tonight; cooler tonight. Sunday cloudy and cooler."

Park Is Soggy

Whether Lincoln Park will be in suitable shape to play ball even though the skies clear is debatable. However, local officials believe that the mid-July condition of the playing field prior to the rain may make tomorrow's program possible.

Tomorrow a double header with Zanesville is scheduled. First game is booked for 2:30 p. m. and the second will begin at 8 p. m. Tickets purchased for the first game are good for the second. Both will be nine inning affairs.

Joe Roseberry, local southpaw, is slated to do the chucking for Marion when a Cardinal pitcher is permitted by the weather to take the mound. Seyfried is the possible starter for the second game to be played.

Henderson Wins at Last

Four days after the last out was made, Ronald Henderson is given credit for the 10 to 2 victory over Zanesville at Zanesville May 6 by official ruling of League President Frank M. Coffey.

William Seyfried, who started the game, was originally credited with the win. He was removed in the fifth inning with one out because of an injury. Marion lead 6 to 2.

The rules state that a starting pitcher must go five innings, unless removed for injury with a lead that is "unquestionably safe." Coffey in explaining his ruling said, "With five innings to go I don't consider a four run lead 'unquestionably safe' in this league."

In view of the fact, also, that Henderson, who relieved had a much better record for five innings with no runs and three hits, against two runs and six hits in four innings for Seyfried, it seems to me that Henderson deserves to be credited with the victory. "It is so ruled."

MEET NEW CARDINAL:

Robert McDonald, Marion's new third baseman, who hit .750 in his first game with the 1916 edition of the Cardinals, is a stranger neither to the Marion club nor the big bat. He started his baseball career with the Birds in 1914.

Later he went to Newark where for most of the early season he led the loop in batting, slumping at the end of the season to 10th place with an average of .322.

Last year he played class B ball with Richmond, Va., of the Piedmont League. He appeared in only 15 games with the Richmond club and hit .220 for 1934. He started with Richmond this year but was released.

From Jacksonville, Fla., he is 3 feet 10 inches high, weighs 178 lbs. and throws right. His normal position is third base but he is considered a good utility man, being able to turn in a creditable performance at most positions.

TRIBE OPENS 15-GAME SERIES IN HOME PARK

Feller and Reynolds To Hurt Sunday Twin Bill.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, O., May 11 — Still looking for their initial victory on the local reservation, Cleveland's Indians open a 15-game home stand today against the St. Louis Browns.

Southpaw Joe Kravitz, formerly of the Canadian army, makes his first starting assignment against the Browns' Stan Fenwick, also a southpaw.

Manager Lou Houderman is reported willing to swap one of his front line hurlers for a hard-bitting outfielder but to date nothing has developed in trade talks with New York, Washington and Philadelphia.

Bob Feller and Alie Reynolds are scheduled to hurl against the Browns in the first local double header of the season tomorrow at the lakefront stadium.

A TRIPLE WINNERS

By The Associated Press

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — Three jockeys have won three Kentucky Derbies.

They were Isaac Murphy, a Negro, who rode the winners in 1884, 1890 and 1891; Earle Sande, the winning rider in 1923, 1925 and 1930; and Eddie Arcaro, who booked the winners in 1930, 1931 and 1934.

Six other jockeys have won two derbies each. Nine winning jockeys have been Negroes, the last in 1902.

ARCADIA, CALIF., May 11 — One of the wildest buggy busters since the dash for the Cherokee strip loomed today with all 26 entries apparently ready to start in the $50,000 mile and one-quarter Western Harness Grand Trot at Santa Anita park.

Barring last-minute scratches, the largest trotting field in some 40 years seemed assured.

A crowd of 25,000 and a mutual handle of $1,000,000 was predicted by Western Harness officials.

Red Sox Beat Old Yankee Jinx 5 to 4; Run String To 15

By JOE REICHLER

Associated Press Sports Writer

Manager Joe Cronin and his Boston Red Sox appeared at last today to have cast off the New York Yankee yoke that has thwarted them of a pennant at least four times in the last decade.

After blowing every pennant-hunting series with the Yankees since 1917, the revengeful Red Sox handed the Bronxites a wallop yesterday that was heard round the baseball world when they whipped the McCarthymen, 5-4, before a week-day record crowd of 64,183 at the Yankee stadium.

The victory not only stretched Boston's winning streak to 15 games—four short of the American league standard—but extended the American league leaders' margin over the Yanks to five and a half games.

The Red Sox are not yet entirely free of the Yankee jinx by any means as the New York nine still has two more cracks at the Sox string over the weekend, but the Hubmen have proved that they no longer roll over and play dead when they come face to face with the Bronx Bombers.

First in 1937

The Yankee jinx first asserted itself in 1937. The Red Sox, in the midst of a determined drive towards their first flag since 1918, encountered the Yankees with a victory string of 12 straight which had elevated them into second place right behind the New Yorkers. The Yanks set them back on their heels with an 8-5 lacing that so unnerved the Sox they lost seven of their ensuing eight games and dropped to fifth and were through for the year.

ASSAULT RATED NO. 1 IN PREAKNESS TODAY

It's Derby Winger Against Field at Pimlico.

By The Associated Press

BALTIMORE, May 11 — It was Assault against the field at Pimlico in the Preakness today, and the betting was just about even that Assault would follow his victory of a week ago in the Kentucky Derby.

There were ten other three-year-olds going to the post with the Texas terror at 4.55 p. m. to run for the black-eyed susans over the old hilltop track paved with more gold than any strip ever before has been covered for one horse-race—$140,620, with more than $100,000 to the winner.

That is, there were ten others provided promised showers didn't bring mud and cause a couple of outsiders to scratch. And of the entire 11, Assault was the high-powered choice to take the same double trick his daddy, Bold Venture, did, just ten years ago—win both the Derby and Preakness.

Both the only argument at all for the big end of the post, made it Assault against Eddie Arcaro. This doesn't mean Joe Arcaro will be packing 126 pounds and running a mile and three sixteenths in this 58th renewal of the Preakness, before some 40,000 fans. But steady Eddie this time is riding Humpden, the horse who wound up third in the Derby.

DEACON BILL TO QUIT DIRECTING FROM FIELD

To Use Walker As Coach; Reds Open With Cards.

By The Associated Press

ST. LOUIS, May 11 — The Cincinnati Reds meet the Cardinals here this afternoon in one of the last games that will find Deacon Bill McKechnie directing his charges from the field.

The Deacon says he will abandon his usual spot along the third base line as soon as Gerald "Gee" Walker, the Redlegs' newest coach, can be trained for a field job.

McKechnie's present plans call for moving Coach Jimmy Wilson from the first base line to the hot corner spot and installing Walker at first.

"I believe Gee will make us a fine coach," the Reds' manager said. "And I'm sure I will do a better job of managing from the bench."

The Reds signed Walker as a coach earlier this week, shortly after his release from Sacramento of the Pacific Coast league. Gee, a 16-year man in the big league, was released by the Reds last year. He is to join the club here tomorrow.

Bucky Walters takes the mound for Cincinnati today in a game originally scheduled to be played under the lights but advanced to daytime because of coal strike complications. Red Barrett is the Cardinal hurler.

Fisherman Loses 118 Fish To Mr. Octopus

By The Associated Press

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. — Charles Wallace, commercial fisherman of Marathon, Fla., posed a question at a fishermen's meeting here as to whether he or an octopus caught 118 fish off the Florida Keys.

As he drew each fish up toward his boat there would be a sudden boiling of water on the bottom, a flash of activity, and he would haul in a fish that had been sucked dry.

"Finally I saw the creature that was catching the fish I caught. It was a big squid or octopus, with a body as big as a watermelon. I went after him and hooked him once, but he snapped my line like it was a straw."

Cecil Keith also saw the undersea monster.

PLEASANT NINE WINS COUNTY TITLE 28-16

Spills New Bloomington for Spot in District Meet.

Pleasant's baseball team yesterday blasted its way into the district class B tournament at Columbus by downing New Bloomington 28 to 16 in the "Little World Series" at Pleasant. Originally intended as a series of three games, the match was limited to one game by agreement between the two schools.

Played partly in the rain, the game was shot with errors. Don Pleasant, pitcher, issued nine walks while striking out five men. Four New Bloomington pitchers, who also doubled in the field, gave up 10 walks and struck out two. Hedger with a homer and Lester with a three-bagger led Pleasant swatmen while Seiter with triple and Furniss with four singles were the heavy hitters for the losers.

Drawings for positions in the class B district tournament will be held at Columbus Monday. Tournament play begins Thursday.

Gene Tierney and Vincent Price
Price Now Playing Through Thursday.

"Dragonwyck" starring Gene Tierney and Vincent Price, based on a sensational best-seller book of the same name, is now playing through Thursday at the Ohio theater. Featured players with them are Walter Huston and Glenn Langan.

Set against the background of the anti-rent rebellion period of the early 19th century, "Dragonwyck" tells a thrilling story of the strange emotion and power of a girl whose eyes are opened to a new and exciting world which is filled with mystery and terror. Walter Huston plays her stern and stubborn, Bible-quoting father, while Vincent Price is the man who is attracted to her.

"Devotion" starring Olivia de Havilland, Ida Lupino, Nancy Coleman, Paul Henreid and Sydney Greenstreet will be shown for seven days starting Friday.

This is the story of the three Bronie sisters, Charlotte, Emily and Annie, and of their brother, Branwell, and their clerical father, which makes up the family. The Bronies were writers and poets, and the picture tells the kind of life they lived.

Ducks and geese generally have more fat than chickens and turkeys.

STUDENTS AT OWU
BALL, TEACHERS SAY

Than Non-Vets and Coeds in Attendance.

Special to The Star
AWARE, May 11.—Chalk up an affirmative vote for the discredited veteran class at the annual ball of the Ohio Wesleyan University. The record for the non-veteran class was better than the non-veteran class and way out in front according to a faculty poll at Ohio Wesleyan university.

"Punctuality and regularity learned while in the service have carried over into the classroom and to good advantage," Dr. Henry C. Hubbard, professor of history, asserted, in making this comment in regard to the excellent attendance record made by the nearly 500 veterans enrolled at Ohio Wesleyan.

A survey of scholastic records of the veterans at Ohio Wesleyan during the first semester of the present school year also indicated that the veteran scored a point average of almost 0.2 higher than the non-veteran men students in a graduating system with 4.00 perfect scores.

On Marion Bill

Ray Milland Picture To Be Shown Here Sunday
and Monday.

"The Lost Weekend" starring Ray Milland and Jane Wyman, and "Strange Conquest" with Jane Wyatt, Lowell Gilmore and Peter Cookson will be shown Sunday and Monday at the Marion theater.

The former tells the unusual and unforgettable story of five days out of a young man's life whose weakness for liquor drives him to the depths of human degradation. The story in the latter picture revolves around the professional rivalry between two medical scientists, one of whom assumes the other's identity for certain reasons when the other dies after an experiment.

"Come and Get It" starring Joel McCrea, Edward Arnold, Andrea Leeds and Frances Farmer, and "She Went to the Races" with James Craig and Frances Gifford will be shown Tuesday and Wednesday.

The former, which pictures life in the lumber camps in the north woods, tells about a chore boy who became a lumber baron. The latter picture tells the hilarious story of a woman professor who, forced to raise money in order to prevent a colleague from losing his job, joins in a scheme to pick a winning horse at the Santa Anita race-track by scientific deduction.

"The Phantom Thief" starring Chester Morris as Boston Blackie, Jeff Donnell and Richard Lane, and "Border Bandits" with Johnny Black Brown and Raymond Hatton will be shown Thursday through Saturday.

The former is another in a series of pictures concerning the adventures of Boston Blackie. In this mystery film, he becomes involved with a spiritualist who mixes murder with his work. Rita Hayworth And Glenn Ford in "Gilda" At Palace Theater

Story of Down-and-Outer Who Regains Fortune in Gambling Hall.

"Gilda" starring Rita Hayworth and Glenn Ford will be shown Sunday and Wednesday at the Palace theater.

The story of a glamorous, high-spirited, dangerous girl, it tells how she tried to get even with a man who had put her out of his life. It all begins when Johnny Farrell, played by Glenn Ford, a tough guy and bitter toward life, is befriended by an owner of a gambling casino when he is found wandering along a South American waterfront. Employed at this place, Johnny becomes rich and he and the owner of the casino become good friends. Johnny's past remains a secret to everyone he meets, until he finally has to face the woman in his life, played by Rita Hayworth.

Short features to be shown with "Gilda" are a Donald Duck cartoon, "Flicker Flashbacks" and the latest News.

A double feature, "Flame of Barbary Coast" starring John Wayne and Ann Dvorak, and "Perilous Holiday" with Pat O'Brien and Ruth Warrick, will be shown Thursday through Saturday.

Taking place during the American era when the exciting and colorful San Francisco Barbary Coast was in existence, the former picture tells of an honest Montana rancher, played by John Wayne, who loses all his money in a dice game in a gambling house when he goes on a trip to the Barbary Coast.

The purpose of his trip to the Coast was to collect a large amount of money for a horse which he had sold. He collects but also loses it. At the same time he meets the girl who is called "the flame" and wins her approval. From there on a rivalry exists between he and the owner of the gambling house.

RITA HAYWORTH AND GLENN FORD, shown above, are co-starred in "Gilda" which will be shown through Wednesday at the Palace theater.

STOCKS RECOVERING FROM FRIDAY BULGE

By The Associated Press
NEW YORK, May 21—Assured stocks recovered the recovery push in today's market although profit catching on Friday's late bulge put many leaders in the losing column.

Principal buying inspiration still was the two-week coal strike which revived hopes of a final settlement of this controversy. Skeptics were plentiful, however, the being inclined to caution on the idea that the lengthy fuel crisis had already seriously affected second quarter business for widespread corporations.

Transfers were around 1,000,000 shares.

Western Union "A" was killed by the large-scale first quarter loss reported by the company.

Underlying this had been expected costs.

MICHIGAN DIGS INTO 2 MYSTERY DEATHS

By The Associated Press

GRANT, Mich., May 21—The mysterious deaths of an unidentified woman and a 10-year-old girl whose fully clothed bodies were found face down in a shallow, sandy grave yesterday provided Michigan police with a major puzzle today.

The sand-encrusted bodies, believed to have been buried about two weeks ago, were discovered just off a lonely country road in a grave on the site of an abandoned well and near a hunting lodge.

First examination showed a head wound on the woman and no marks of violence to the child, but Coroner Harold J. McKinley said he believed the two had been slain.

An inquest was ordered today. State police reported no signs of dragging the bodies to the shallow grave, and theorized that any violence committed must have taken place at that spot.

The only clue to the identity of the victims was a lock of hair from the woman and containing a piece of a man and woman.

Deputy Sheriff Roy Levenson said no living persons had been reported in the county during the past month.

The grave was discovered by a nearby resident, James Anson, who was walking through the wooded area about a mile off State Highway 213.
